Dear Parents:

In an effort to increase your child's knowledge of how to maintain good health, on Wednesday, May 24th, the Health Education Department of South High School will be hosting two special programs for seniors only. These programs will be held during an assembly (9:22 – 10:02) and will be gender specific.

The program for girls, to be held in the library, will be presented by the Nassau Region of Hadassah and is focused on teaching about the importance of regular and correct breast self-examination.

The program for boys will be in the choral room and will deal with male health issues, including testicular self-examination.

We strongly urge your son or daughter to attend. In addition, we invite you to join us for these very special presentations. Your attendance will keep you informed about your child's experience and we hope can provide the basis for further conversations between you and your child. If you have any questions, please contact Health Education Chairperson, Jane Callaghan at 441-4800.

Sincerely,

Susan Elliott
Principal
